

Grace and Peace to you this week.

Well, I have an idea how busy Santa's workshop must be right now. Wilmot is another hive of activity.

We have our regular Wednesdays@Wilmot program today, plus the preparation for our Giant Auction ramping up, plus Committees meeting as did Worship and Stewardship & Finance yesterday, and the usual flow of people and calls.

We enjoyed a grand shared worship service at St. Paul's United last Sunday celebrating their anniversary. This Sunday, we will mark our anniversary and 225 years of worship in this spot. What a celebration it will be. I hope you plan to be there.

Please remember those we reach out to every Advent season; White Gift Sunday is coming up and so is the Mitten tree project. Words from Wilmot will have a complete list of our Advent - Christmas activities, and it is scheduled to be published soon.

Your governing Council meets next Wednesday evening and Woolastook Presbytery meets on the following day in Stanley.

Malcolm Miller and his team have worked hard to prepare a set of three plays to be shown at Wilmot tonight, Wednesday 16 November at 7p.m.

Blessings to each of you,

Rose~Hannah
