

Grace and Peace to you this icy day.

Please do take care today, it's a mess!

Last Sunday I mentioned the triskele symbol. Here's an example of it:

Inline image 1 Discerning the call of Jesus, Responding to it in trust, and Inviting others to come and see. These were the 3 dimensions of discipleship I spoke of Sunday, the 3 'legs' of the symbol which images movement and progression.

This Sunday, we'll look at Micah 6:8 and the beatitudes in Matthew's gospel. We can talk more about the details of Christian living, and ways of talking about it in simple, clear ways.

Well, nothing much could go on Tuesday because of weather conditions so hopefully Wednesday will be better. Council meets at 7pm and will begin with the information session on Remit 2&3 that has to be cancelled Tuesday evening. This presentation in the Board Room, is open to all who are interested.

Many are now writing reports for the Annual Report as the deadline is February 7th. Our Wilmot Annual General Meeting is scheduled for Sunday February 19th. Among the agenda items will likely be an update on the property development file.

I am excited to let you know that Wilmot United Church now has a Facebook page. Check it out! It will be a very useful tool for reaching out to many we do not always connect with. My thanks to the tow members who got this off the ground so quickly.

"Contemplation is life itself, fully awake, fully active, fully aware that it is alive. It is spiritual wonder. It is spontaneous awe at the sacredness of life, of being. It is gratitude for life, for awareness, and for being. It is a vivid realization of the fact that life and being in us proceed from an invisible, transcendent and infinitely abundant Source. Contemplation is, above all, awareness of the reality of that Source."

Thomas Merton
