

WEEKLY E-LETTER --- Oct. 17, 2017

Well, I don't think we could have included one more activity last weekend! The Sampler Saturday and the soup lunch and welcome for newcomers all went very well.

The gym is still filled with hundreds of books from the book sale the previous week; the sale is still in motion. Thanks to the volunteers who helped raise nearly $2,000.

Now coming up fast is the Rummage Sale this Friday and Saturday.

I see Halloween decorations around the neighbourhood. Can the end of the month be so close? The winds today and lower temperatures signal that this may be true.

Ellen and I have set time for a meeting with our ministry colleagues at St. Paul's to doing some planning for the months ahead. Time is going by so quickly.

Please make a note of our congregational evening Friday, October 27th. We'll share a meal at 5:30 p.m., worship together and spend some time with facilitator Rev. Catherine Smith of Sackville.

I leave you with this:

Good News

The program set out in the Gospels is clear: love God and neighbor, heal the sick and raise the dead (at least figuratively), pursue justice, feed the hungry, let the oppressed go free, have faith in the reconciling power of God, live in confident hope of the resurrection to even greater life.
